

Tefal introduces the New Largo Barbecue Grill

Groupe SEB Australia is expanding its range of electrical products under Tefal with the launch of the Largo BBQ Grill.

A combination of compact design and versatility, the Largo BBQ is a very well-featured product and offers outstanding value. It has a large cooking surface of 1500cm², a powerful 2300 watt cast heating element and large ridges to deliver excellent cooking and char grilled results. This extra large BBQ is suitable for indoor and outdoor use, so consumers can enjoy their barbecue all year long.

According to Marketing Manager, Filiz Bensen, "we know that outdoor entertaining is very popular during the Christmas period and over summer. Australia's warm weather means that barbecues are often the preferred option, especially when cooking for a large group. People like to cook in their backyards and those who live in apartments like to cook on their balconies. The Largo BBQ caters for these two requirements. Also, in the lead up to summer Australians will turn to healthy grilled meats and seafood, which are perfect when grilled on the barbecue. Consumers are increasingly concerned about their health and are cautious of how they cook their foods. With the Largo, you can cook healthy meals with no added fat. The sloped non-stick surface will allow you to drain any excess fat while cooking."
